

Pest Control and Termite management - Safety

Safety on and off the job during pest and termite control is of major importance.

Extreme care is taken during pest and termite treatment operations to ensure that the chemicals used land in the target area without drift or runoff.

All pest control chemical applications done strictly in accordance with the manufacturer's label. Individual sensitivity and allergies will be considered before any chemical application is made.

